

CONTENTS

- 1 Understanding Scholarly Shifts—A Matter of Relevance 1
Matthew Flinders and Rainer Eisfeld
- Part I Foundations and Concepts
- 2 Incentives for Impact: Relevance Regimes Through a Cross-National Perspective 35
Justyna Bandola-Gill, Matthew Flinders, and Marleen Brans
- 3 Towards a Tyranny of Politically Selected Relevance? Co-option Through State-Directed Research Funding 65
Rainer Eisfeld
- Part II Country Case Studies
- 4 Research in a Racially Structured State: The Role of the US National Science Foundation 95
Dianne M. Pinderhughes and Andrea Peña-Vasquez
- 5 Australia's Politics of Research Funding: Depoliticization and the Crisis of the Regulatory State 119
Kanishka Jayasuriya and Greg McCarthy

6	The Unplanned and Underfunded Co-option of Political Science in France	145
	Raul Magni-Berton and Pierre Squevin
7	Political and Social Forces Shaping Political Science Research and Knowledge Transfer in the Netherlands	179
	Arco Timmermans, Valérie Pattyn, and Barend van der Meulen
8	When Illiberalism Meets Neoliberalism: State and the Social Sciences in Present Hungary	203
	Zsolt Boda and Zoltán Gábor Szúcs
9	Undermining the Role of Political Science: State-Directed Research Funding in the Visegrad States	231
	Aneta Világi
10	Political Science or Science in the Service of Politics: Internal and External Co-option in Belarus	257
	Tatsiana Chulitskaya
11	Social Sciences as an Instrument of National Development? The Case of Qatar	289
	Leslie A. Pal
Part III Analysis and Implications
12	From Deference and the Politicization of Research Funding to a New Politics of Political Science	323
	Rainer Eisfeld and Matthew Flinders
	Index	341