
Contents

1	Introduction	1
1.1	Importance of Practicum	4
1.2	The Book	6
1.3	Who Is This Book for?	10
	References	12
2	What Is Mentoring and Who Mentors?	15
2.1	Introduction	15
2.2	Origins of Mentoring	15
2.3	The Concept of Mentoring	17
2.4	Mentoring—A Multi-dimensional Construct	20
2.5	Mentoring as a Relationship	21
2.6	Mentoring as a Process	23
2.7	Dialogic Mentoring	24
2.8	Who Mentors, and What Is Their Role?	26
2.9	Role of the Mentor	26
2.10	Who Is the Mentee, and What Is Their Role?	29
2.11	Role of the Mentee	30
2.12	Five Factors of Effective Mentoring	31
2.13	Chapter Summary Points	34
	References	34
3	Mentoring and Coaching	39
3.1	Introduction	39
3.2	Coaching and Mentoring: The Same or Different?	40
3.3	Comparing Coaching and Mentoring	41
3.4	Features of Coaching	44
3.5	Supervisory Coaching	49
3.6	Content Focused Coaching	50
3.7	The Process of Agreeing a Shared Lesson Plan Using CFC	51
3.8	Chapter Summary Points	52
	References	52

4	Characteristics of a Mentor	55
4.1	Understanding Adult Learning	57
4.2	Interpersonal Skills	60
4.3	Mentoring Competence	63
4.4	Mentor Abilities	64
4.5	Emotional Intelligence	65
4.6	Applying Emotional Intelligence to Mentoring	67
4.7	Emotionally Intelligent Mentoring	68
4.8	Chapter Summary Points	72
	References	73
5	The Mentoring Process: The First Mentoring Meeting	75
5.1	Mentoring in the Pre-service Career Context	75
5.2	Phases of the Mentoring Process	78
5.3	The First Mentoring Meeting	80
5.4	Practice Scenario 3: First Mentoring Meeting	80
5.5	Things to Consider When Planning the First Mentoring Meeting	82
5.6	What Are S.M.A.R.T Goals?	84
5.7	Factors that Support Effective Communication	86
5.8	Active Listening	87
5.9	Rate Your Listening Skills	89
5.10	Chapter Summary Points	90
	References	90
6	Moving Beyond the First Meeting. Approaches to Mentoring	93
6.1	The Learning Zone Model	93
6.2	Facilitating Growth	96
6.3	Approaches to Mentoring	97
6.4	Formal Mentoring During Initial Teacher Education	97
6.5	Triadic Model of Mentoring	98
6.6	How Triadic Mentoring Works	99
6.7	Informal Mentoring	101
6.8	Educative Mentoring	102
6.9	Inside and Outside Mentoring	103
6.10	Images of Mentoring	105
6.11	Stepping in and Stepping Out	106
6.12	Teaching Together	108
6.13	Demonstration Teaching	109
6.14	Mentoring on the Move	109
6.15	Mentoring and Debriefing Sessions	109
6.16	Co-Planning	109
6.17	Peer Mentoring	110
6.18	Communities of Practice	112
6.19	Chapter Summary Points	114
	References	115

7	Critical Role of Feedback in the Mentoring Process	119
7.1	Clarifying the Concept of 'Feedback'	120
7.2	Critical Role of Mentor Feedback	122
7.3	Contextual Considerations for Mentor Feedback	123
7.4	Crafting Mentor Approaches to Feedback	125
7.5	What Does Feedback Look Like, and How and When, Should It Be Delivered?	127
7.6	Creating the Conditions for Providing Feedback	131
7.7	Choosing a Model of Feedback	132
7.8	Contemplating Approaches/Strategies to Feedback	133
7.8.1	Medal and Mission	134
7.8.2	The Feedback Sandwich	135
7.8.3	Chronological Fashion Feedback: De-constructing the Task	136
7.8.4	The Pendleton Model	136
7.9	Chapter Summary Points	138
	References	138
8	The Mentor's Role in Nurturing Reflective Practice	141
8.1	Models of Reflection	143
8.2	Schön's Model of Reflective Practice	144
8.3	Rolfe, Freshwater, & Jasper 'What' Model (2001)	146
8.4	Kolb's Reflective Cycle	146
8.5	Gibbs Reflective Cycle	148
8.6	The Rs of Reflection	151
8.7	Using the 5Rs to Maximise Mentoring Feedback	152
8.8	Mirror, Mirror on the Wall: The Self-Reflective Mentor!	154
8.8.1	Things to Consider	154
8.9	How Often and How Much Reflection?	155
8.10	Power Relations in Mentor Feedback and Reflective Practice	155
8.11	Chapter Summary Points	159
	References	159
9	Optimal Conditions for Mentoring	161
9.1	Reviewing the Benefits of Mentoring	161
9.2	Supportive Mentoring Framework	163
9.3	Organisational Commitment to Mentoring	163
9.3.1	Supporting a Mentoring Culture: Self-Evaluation Questions for Universities/Colleges	167
9.3.2	Supporting a Mentoring Culture: Self-Evaluation Questions for Primary Schools/Early Childhood Settings	167
9.4	Organisational Ethos	168
9.5	Physical Resources for Mentoring	169
9.6	Time	170

9.7	Mentor Preparation	172
9.7.1	Mentor Training Checklist	176
9.8	Characteristics of Effective Mentoring-Training	177
9.9	Mentee Willingness to Engage in the Mentoring Process	178
9.10	Overcoming Impediments to Mentoring	179
9.11	Chapter Summary Points	181
	References	182
10	Ethical Mentoring	185
10.1	What is Ethical Mentoring?	186
10.2	Power Imbalance in the Mentor-mentee Relationship	188
10.3	Power-Differential Beyond Initial Teacher Education	193
10.4	Mentor Availability and Competence as Ethical Considerations	193
10.5	Confidentiality as an Ethical Consideration	195
10.6	Chapter Summary Points	198
	References	199
11	Concluding Chapter	201
11.1	What? What Key Concepts Were Addressed?	202
11.1.1	The What of Terminology	203
11.1.2	The What of Mentoring	203
11.1.3	The What of the Complexity of Mentoring	205
11.1.4	The What of Universal Design for Learning in Relation to Mentoring	206
11.1.5	The What of Mentoring Models	206
11.1.6	The What of the Ethics of Mentoring	207
11.1.7	The What of Reflection	207
11.1.8	The What of Optimal Conditions for Mentoring	208
11.2	So What?	209
11.3	Now What?	210
	References	212
	Bibliography	213