

Contents

Figures vii

Foreword: Slovak Literature and Central Europe ix

Daniel W. Pratt

Acknowledgments xxiii

Introduction 3

Katarina Gephardt, Charles Sabatos, and Ivana Taranenková

1 Slovak Literature and the Post-Stalin Liberalization, 1956–70 52

Rajendra A. Chitnis

2 Literature of the Transition: Between Neo-modernism and Postmodernism 77

Peter Darovec

3 Writing the Self from Autobiography to Autofiction 104

Ivana Taranenková

4 History and Memory: Rewriting the Past 135

Zora Prušková

5 Poetry and Social Engagement 155

Viliam Nádaskay

6 Subversion and Experimentation in Contemporary Poetry	189
Ivana Hostová

7 Regional Writing and National Identity in the Borderlands	222
Radoslav Passia

8 Expatriate and Cosmopolitan Writing	249
Tamara Janecová

9 Women's Writing and Social Change	276
Rafał Majerek

CODA | TRANSLATORS AND TRANSLATIONS

Translating Politics and the Politics of Translation	311
Magdalena Mullek

An Interview with Translator Julia Sherwood	327
Prepared by Katarina Gephardt

Appendix Selected Bibliography of Slovak Literature in English Translation	339
Compiled by Charles Sabatos and Ivana Hostová

Contributors	347
--------------	-----

Index	353
-------	-----